

Paving Project Total $41,941

Local Sources Must Provide
$16,545 For Town's Part
Of Program

Montevallo's proposed street paving project stands ready for action when local sources have supplied $16,545 as the town's part of the cost. Government allotment of $25,396 has been made and approved.

In this connection we repeat a statement made by Mayor Acker relative to the matter last December:

"On the final estimate of the government the Town came out around a thousand dollars better than we first figured. According to the last calculations the government will take care of $25,396.17, or 60.5 per cent of the cost, and the Town will have to finance $16,545, or 39.5 per cent."

During recent weeks the town officials have been seeking to negotiate a plan with property owners affected, whereby the money for the town's part may be supplied, and the project released for construction.

The streets proposed to be paved are as follows:

Two and a half blocks on Nabors Street, between King and Moody Streets.

Two blocks on Moody Street between Highland and the Chamberlin property.

One block on Morgan Street between Middle and Vine Streets.

One block on Vine Street between Morgan and East Boundary.

One block on East Boundary Street between Middle and Vine Streets.

Three blocks on Valley Street between Shelby and North Boundary Streets.

One block on Oak Street between Plowman and Wadsworth Streets.

One block on Plowman Street between Oak Street and Highland.

One block on Bloch Street between Highland and King Streets.

Two blocks on King Street between Bloch and Plowman Streets.

Harper And Shaw Open New Repair Shop

Modern Machinery and New Equipment Will be Available
To Customers

The new automobile repair shop, garage, and filling station owned by Arthur Harper and Cooper Shaw, is opening for business this week. The location is on the highway between the depot and the new bridge. A new building has been erected, and modern machinery and equipment has been installed. The repair end of the business will be handled by Cooper Shaw, who is already a well-known mechanic in these parts. Mr. Shaw has been in the garage business here for a long time, and has many friends and customers who know of his ability and dependability as an automobile mechanic.

Concerning this new business we quote Mr. Shaw as follows:

"I am glad to offer the excellent facilities of this new business to the friends and customers whom I have served for several years. I have always done honest work and have always tried to give my customers the satisfaction they deserve. In my new shop I will continue to give my own personal attention to every job, and with the equipment I now have, I do not hesitate to say that I can assure you of better service and better work in the future. I will appreciate your continued patronage and friendship."

An important feature of the business of Harper and Shaw will be a day and night wrecker service. They will have a day and night phone, and if trouble overtakes you on the road, a call will bring you prompt attention. They will also sell gasoline and oils.

Doris Humphrey-Charles Weidman dance group, who will appear in concert in Palmer Hall, March 2.

Humphrey-Weidman Dance Group To Appear At College This Week

Doris Humphrey and Charles Weidman, leading American exponents of the contemporary dance, will be presented in lecture-recital with a group of their dancers at Alabama College Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Humphrey will begin the program with an explanation of the elements of the modern dance. Her lecture, interspersed with demonstrations of technique by the group, will enable her audience to see the natural body movements logically developed into dance movements, dance design, and finally the complete dance.

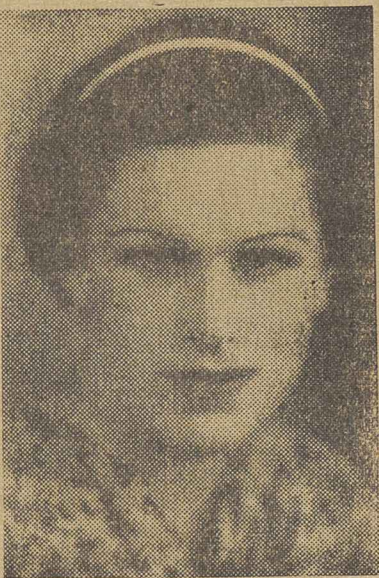

Brilliant choreographers as well as soloists, Miss Humphrey and Mr. Weidman have created more than 100 compositions. Many of these, though serious in theme, are humorous, since Miss Humphrey and Mr. Weidman believe the dance should "amuse, entertain, and astonish" audiences as well as arouse them.

Miss Humphrey and Mr. Weidman worked together on the dances for "Americana," "Flying Colors," and "School for Husbands." The former was responsible for the dance sequences in "Run Lil Chillin'" and "Revenge With Music," and Mr. Weidman for "I'd Rather Be Right," "Life Begins at 8:40," "As Thousands Cheer," and "Hold Your Horses," as well as for the "play within a play" in Norman Bel Geddes' production of Hamlet.

Along more serious lines, Doris Humphrey and Charles Weidman have created compositions which were performed with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony and the Cleveland and Philadelphia Orchestras. Weidman's more important choreography includes his ballets, "The Happy Hypocrite," called a masterpiece of satirical spoofing, "Candide," and "This Passion," all of which achieved success.

Miss Humphrey and Mr. Weidman will instruct classes at Alabama College in the modern dance on Thursday. With their group of twelve men and women they will give concerts Wednesday and Thursday evenings in Palmer Auditorium.

MURIEL GALLICK

SCOTT TENNYSON

Miss Gallick and Mr. Tennyson are members of the Avon Players, which plays Shakespeare's comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew," at Palmer Hall March 6. Miss Gallick plays the part of "Katherine," and Mr. Tennyson is "Hortensio." The production is brought to Montevallo under the sponsorship of Zeta Phi Eta.

Avon Players Will Present "Taming of the Shrew" Here Monday Night

When the Avon Players, nationally known Shakespearean company, appear at Palmer auditorium here on March 6, local audiences will have an opportunity to witness one of the most authentic and elaborate stage productions on the road today.

The Avon Players will present here "Taming of the Shrew," acclaimed by critics as Shakespeare's greatest comedy. The play last year was produced successfully by the New York Theatre Guild and enjoyed a lengthy run in Manhattan. Featured in the Avon Players' cast will be Walter Black, Muriel Gallick, Harold Selman, and Scott

Tennyson. Mr. Black is appearing with the Avon Players this season after having completed an engagement in repertory work at the President Theatre in New York. Miss Gallick has appeared in New York under the management of Shumlin Productions, Inc. Mr. Selman, a veteran of radio, stage, and vaudeville, is back with the company this year after several years work in radio production. He enjoys the distinction of having appeared with many of the foremost Shakespearean stars. Mr. Tennyson is with the players this season for the first time, having worked in radio dram-

Stray Chairs

Adjutant Robert Holcomb reports that a number of folding chairs are missing from the American Legion Hut. It is thought, perhaps, someone has borrowed them and failed to bring them back. Any information about them or their return to the hut will be appreciated. Several organizations hold their meetings in the hut, and the chairs are needed several times each week.

Wooten Motor Co. Succeeds Tatum

New Owner Will Operate
Ford Dealership Here
In the Future

Announcement was released Wednesday of the purchase of the Tatum Chevrolet Company by Mr. L. W. Wooten, of Reform. A further interesting fact about the transaction is that the new business known as Wooten Motor Company, will operate as a Ford dealership.

The new owner of the business is not a stranger to this section of the state. He was born in Shelby County, and for eleven years was store manager for the Southern Coal and Coke Company at Boothton. Leaving Boothton in 1921, Mr. Wooten went to Reform and engaged in operating the Wooten Motor Company, Ford dealers. He has had a successful business career there for 19 years. He says he will continue operation of the business at Reform.

Mr. and Mrs. Wooten plan to move to Montevallo in the near future. They have a 10-year old daughter at home. Another daughter, Miss Nell Wooten, is a student at Alabama College. Their son, Frederick, a graduate of the University of Alabama, is engaged in the practice of law at Talladega.

We welcome Mr. Wooten with his business and his family to Montevallo, with the hope that their future here may be both pleasant and profitable.

Meeting of Teachers

The western division of the Shelby County teachers met at Thompson High School in Siluria for its February meeting. Mrs. Roxie Sasser, elementary supervisor, called the meeting to order at 4 o'clock. Miss Mary Grove conducted the group in singing and the devotionals were led by Miss Olivia Young.

Immediately after this general assembly the teachers divided into study groups with the following in charge: Mrs. Roxie Sasser, Miss Lorraine McGlaughlin, and Mrs. Martha McClimon in the lower elementary; Miss Olivia Lawson and Mrs. Ophelia Maise in the upper elementary; and Mr. J. L. Appleton and Mr. W. F. Tidwell in the high school group. Special assignments in the elementary groups were reported on by Misses Alice Nolen, Idelle Petty, Mary Grove, Beatrice Kunstler, Mesdames William Poe, Lois Nickerson, W. R. Atkins, and Mr. W. B. Atkins.

Lunch Served

At six o'clock the P. T. A. served a very delightful plate lunch in the home economics room. Students from the home economics department assisted in the preparation and serving of the meal under the supervision of Mrs. Pauline Rogan.

The meeting reassembled in the auditorium where a program was presented by students of Thompson School. Members of the Dramatics Club were under the direction of Miss Idelle Turner, and those taking part in the band and glee club were under the direction of Miss Alice McNutt.

At the conclusion of this program the meeting was adjourned by Mr. J. L. Appleton, County Superintendent of Education.

Ezekiel C. Day Died Monday

Prominent Citizen of Piper
Passed Away at Home of Brother in Montevallo

Ezekiel C. Day, age 63, prominent citizen of the Piper community, passed away Monday night at the home of his brother, A. W. Day, in Montevallo. He had been in ill health for about a year, and for the past several weeks had been staying at the home of his brother.

Funeral services were held at Six Mile Baptist Church Wednesday morning, conducted by Rev. F. B. Pearson of Montevallo, and Rev. J. W. Mitchell, of Brent. Rev. Sewell of Piper and two sons of the deceased, who are also ministers, had a part in the funeral services. Burial was in charge of Collins, of West Blocton.

Surviving are four sons, E. C., Jr., Herschel and Francis, of Piper, and Gerald (Bobby), a student at Auburn; two daughters, Mrs. R. B. Jones, of Piper, and Mrs. J. B. Hunter, of Macon, Ga. His wife died about fourteen years ago. Also surviving are four grandchildren: one sister, Mrs. C. E. Hoskin, of Montevallo; two brothers, A. W. Day, of Montevallo, and Clyde C. Day, of Selma; one half brother, C. S. Day, of Montevallo.

Mr. Day lived at Piper for many years, where he was known and loved as one of the community's best and most substantial Christian citizens. He was a loyal, faithful and consecrated member of the Baptist Church. For many years he was engaged in the mercantile business, associated with his brother-in-law, the late Mr. C. E. Hoskin.

The funeral service was attended by a vast number of sorrowing friends and relatives, many of whom came from distant places. The beautiful floral offerings were a lovely expression of the respect of many acquaintances, some of whom were prevented from attending.

Peg O' My Heart Is Senior Class Play

"Peg O' My Heart," a comedy, will be this year's presentation by the senior class of Montevallo High School for its annual senior play. The play will take place in Palmer Hall on March 10.

"Peg O' My Heart" is a three-act comedy written by J. Hartley Manners. The plot deals with the adventures of Peg, an Irish girl who is forced to live with unpleasant relatives. The scene is laid in England.

The cast of the play is: Peg, Peggy Payne; Jerry, Bud Miltstead; Mrs. Chichester, Annie Laurie Ingram; Alaric, her son, Wiley Fancher; Ethel, her daughter, Zemma Holcombe; Montgomery Hawkes, Donald Vaughan; Christian Brent, Ray Atchison; Jarvis, Julius Moonney; Bennett, Hazel Maudling.

The admission will be 30 cents. The curtain will rise at 8 o'clock. Miss Elizabeth Utterback will direct this play, so you are assured of an evening of splendid entertainment.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

The Gold Medal basketball tournament will be held at Calera on Friday, February 3. The games begin at 6 p.m. Fourteen or fifteen good teams will participate.

Girl Scout Open House

Troop 2 of the Montevallo Girl Scouts will hold open house Sunday, March 5, at the Girl Scout Little House. Margaret Bickler's patrol will receive from 3 to 5. The public is cordially invited.

MR. ELLIS'S CRITICISM

Many people in Alabama, and more particularly in Shelby County, are interested in the broadside attack made against the Dixon administration last week by our representative, Mr. Handy Ellis.

There is both praise and ridicule for the things which Mr. Ellis said. Elsewhere on this page The Times reproduces the Alabama Journal's account of the broadside. It suits The Journal.

Also on this page is produced an editorial from the Montgomery Advertiser, which is rather critical of Mr. Ellis.

While we are altogether friendly toward and yet yet full of hope for the success of the Dixon program, we would not engage in idle ridicule of our own Handy Ellis. Regardless of how one might feel about the matter, all must admit that Mr. Ellis is not given to shooting big guns blank into thin air where there can be no possible target.

The Dixon administration may well take the Ellis criticism as a warning. It is a sign of caution, which, if heeded, may avert some dangerous consequences ahead.

For it is known of all that powerful political leaders and crusading diplomats do not always ride on a high tide. Usually there is a cessation in their popularity. Then comes the time when others get into places of leadership. This knowledge is the trump of smart politicians.

That time may come to the Dixon forces. Then it will be the time to reckon with Handy, who, it is admitted by his critics, is a worthy contemporary in matters of state and politics.

IS "HANDY" A CANDIDATE?

Representative "Handy" Ellis of Shelby, intelligent and veteran member of the Alabama legislature, is acting up. He is talking like a candidate for something. Certainly on Thursday he spoke at such great length in the house that his natural opponents had to plead for an extension of time, which, of course, was granted. Certainly he had a stenographer present to take down his speech, and of course this precaution attracted some notice, since it was extraordinary, if not extra-curricular.

As the gentleman from Shelby counted the buttons on his vest and mumbled to himself he arraigned Governor Dixon as a "dictator," a politician who would "centralize power" in Montgomery to the prejudice of the common people in the wide open spaces.

Knowing something of the art and science of an aspiring politician when he is engaged in building himself up, naturally we must conclude that "Handy," as he spoke his piece, was looking forward to the day when Dixon would be unpopular and the people would remember with gratitude those stalwart heroes that in the very beginning opposed Dixon's fell designs.

Our special interest at the moment is to warn Governor Dixon against the skill and force of Shelby's Ellis. If he performs as well in fighting Dixon now as he did in supporting the Ku Klux Klan in 1927, Dixon will be compelled to appeal to the masses over "Handy's" head.

The Advertiser fought Ellis before Dixon's day dawned and it knows something of the edge that is on his steel. Ellis was the ablest bell-hop that the Klan had in the legislature in 1927, to The Advertiser's certain knowledge. If he is half as effective now as he was in the days when he was running interference for krummy kleagles, he will be a tough baby to handle, even though the essence of his thesis is so much hogwash. — Montgomery Advertiser.

Dixon Accused of Fostering Perilous Political Doctrine

The Dixon administration stood accused Friday of fostering a political philosophy of centralized power contrary to custom and tradition and unwelcome in Alabama.

Representative L. H. Ellis of Shelby, a recognized able legislator, hurled this solemn broadside from the floor of the house as he proclaimed his own allegiance to the principle that "government of the people, by the people, and for the people" shall not perish from this state.

Flayed Stem to Stern

Raking major aspects of the Dixon program from stem to stern, he told his colleagues and a packed gallery that he saw a trend toward concentration of authority in Montgomery and in "the higher brackets" and predicted if the administration continues "the way it is going," it will outdo, in expenditures anything witnessed for years.

Ellis termed as "a startling declaration" the statement of Governor Dixon in his first message to the legislature that "the platform of the successful candidate for governor becomes a covenant to be carried out by the legislative and executive branches" under the system in Alabama in the absence of a platform adopted by a convention.

"That," said the Shelby lawmaker, referring to covenant "means a binding contract."

Ellis assailed this doctrine as out of tune with custom and tradition and in conflict with the law and the constitution.

Time to Take Stock

Ellis insisted the hour has arrived to "stop and take stock to see what political philosophy is behind this administration." He proceeded into an analysis of several principal measures and declared them to lead in the direction of "centralization of power in Montgomery."

Declaring "I do not subscribe to the doctrine that the governor is all-wise," Ellis said he considered Dixon to be "a pretty apt scholar" who had delved into and digested the report of the Brookings Institute.

Ellis delivered his speech in debate on the administration's merit system bill for state employees in the house late Thursday. He ripped fiercely into the measure, contending it would not get rid of the so-called "spoils system," but that on the other hand its effect would be to "shift the lever of control" from the masses of the people "to the higher brackets."

With the admonition that "you can't rise by dictatorship," Ellis asserted the merit system director would be "a dictator" in charge of state employment "subject to the governor's approval."

Tax Equalization Scored

Decrying the doctrine of centralized power generally in attacking the administration's "tax equalization" bill, Ellis insisted the tax-burdened people of Alabama are unable to stand the extra taxation that could be shouldered upon them by the measure and remarked:

"You are going on the railroad tracks of destruction if you don't watch out."

He demanded to know, "Where is the economy?" pursued by the Dixon regime in its legislative program and declared he could not follow a philosophy of removing tax exemptions from plain food and then reducing income tax.

Ellis also tore into the administration's finance department bill for the authority it extends Capitol Hill over local government. He denounced both this measure and the tax equalization bill as carrying the philosophy that the people are unable to elect public officials competent to administer their affairs. He assailed the process by which it is proposed to appoint tax "equalizers" as a "subterfuge."

Aid of Press Enlisted

The Shelby legislator said he understood telephone messages went out calling on newspapers all over the state to write editorials supporting the merit system bill and declared "a servile" press burst out "full of editorials."

Ellis deplored the so-called "merit system" as a project by which the "door of opportunity" to obtain a state job might be practically closed to every boy and girl who does not hold a job when the measure gets into established operation.

He referred to the "short ballot" plank in Dixon's platform in his first race for governor and to the fact that this was ditched by Dixon in the campaign last year. Then, summing up the combined projects which he interpreted as a definite drift toward centralization of power at the state capitol, Ellis asked if these things did not represent the principle of "the short ballot personified."—Alabama Journal.

Missionary Society Holds Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church held its regular monthly business meeting at the church Monday afternoon, February 27, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. C. H. Mahaffey led the devotional, using as her subject, "Widening the Horizons of the Home." Mrs. McConaughy read the scripture lesson, John 2:1-8 and John 11:20-30, the first telling of a joyous experience of Jesus being a guest in a home on the occasion of a marriage the other telling of his experience in a home where a member of the family had been claimed by death.

The song, "Lord, Speak to Me," was sung and used also as a prayer by the group.

In her impressive talk, Mrs. Mahaffey spoke of the value of Christian homes and the influence of such homes on the individual members. She said that the memories of a beautiful Christian home, where family prayer was held and where her father prayed for wisdom and guidance from the Great Source of Wisdom, had been an influence for good and an inspiration to her all her life. She also said we should not be selfish with our homes, but we should include others who might be away from their homes and homesick for home life, within our own family circles. Her talk was beautiful and given as it was, to a group, every member of which was a homemaker, the thoughts were carried home in the hearts of each member present.

In the absence of Mrs. J. P. Kelly, the president, Mrs. O. B. Cooper presided at the business meeting which followed. At the conclusion of business the meeting was adjourned with the members repeating the watchword.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Girl Scouts of Troop 2 met Tuesday afternoon in the Little House.

Mr. J. T. Bagwell helped them to decide the inds of arts and crafts to use in making articles for a bazaar. The achievement charts were brought up to date.

Sarah Barr passed nature and homemaking, Virginia Barnes passed nature, homemaking, and music and dancing toward second class rank. Margaret Bickler passed a part of her cooking badge, Peggy Davis did a few things on the troop dramatic and hostess badge. Frances Nybeck demonstrated the use of some kitchen equipment for the housekeeper badge.

Mrs. Bagwell and Miss Doris Condon, lieutenants, and the following girls attended the meeting: Tootsie Clayton, Mayo Baker, Alice Ray Clemmons, Louise Holcombe, Anne Davis, Peggy Davis, Virginia Barnes, Billie Mitchell, Carolyn Ray, June Mitchum, Sarah Barr, Edine Sellers, Margaret Bickler, Frances Nybeck, Julia Rogan, Sarah Henry Reynolds, Mary Jean Kennerly, Pat Weems, Betty Cain, Edna Wells, and Dama Wills.

Merrill, Vinson, Barbour County 4-H Club boy, finds that his baby beef calf is making the most of his feed. From January 1 to January 22 the calf gained 55 pounds or 2½ pounds per day on ground corn, ground velvet beans, cottonseed meal, peanut hay and a few sweet potatoes.

Furniture needs more than just dusting. It needs oil occasionally to keep it from drying, cracking or warping or the veneer from loosening. The dry air in some homes is as bad for furniture as for people.

Trustee Members Named By Dixon

Appointment by Governor Frank M. Dixon of two new members of the Alabama College board of trustees and reappointment of two others was announced this week.

The new members are Mrs. Edwina Mitchell, state-at-large, and Mr. Nelson Fuller, Centerville, sixth district.

Mrs. A. Y. Malone, Dothan, of the third district, and Mr. L. Sevier, Birmingham, of the ninth district, are the members reappointed.

Terms of office for all members of the board are for 12 years.

Baptist Church

Dr. Pearson will preach Sunday morning on "The Christian's Devotional Life." This is the first of a series on "Deepening the Spiritual Life" which he will use as a general theme during the entire month for the Sunday morning services. The shallowness and ineffectiveness of the average Christian life is apparent to all. That is the trouble with the world, with business, with the churches. Dr. E. Stanley Jones said some years ago that "we cannot go further until we go deeper." Men of all ranks today are realizing that the one great need of the hour is a revival of spiritual life and power in the individual. The way to such revival is clearly indicated in the "Book of Life." What about your own life? There is the place to begin.

At 7:30 Sunday evening the pastor will speak on "The Strait Gate." What are you planning to do Sunday evening? Will what you are planning to do please God? Perhaps you need the influence and help that you would get from worshipping in the Lord's house. If you do not need the service, the service needs you. Come!

New Sales Tax Goes Into Effect

The new sales tax law, recently enacted by the legislature of Alabama, went into effect yesterday, March 1.

In addition to all items heretofore taxed, the new law includes the following items heretofore exempted:

Insurance companies, building and loan associations, banks, milk, meal, flour, white meat, sugar, coffee, carload lots sold by manufacturers when such sales are actually retail sales, that is to say, sales to customers; insurance benefits, hospitals, magazines, coal sold at retail by mine operators, except sales to manufacturers, transportation companies, and electric power companies; vessels of 50 tons burden or less.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our unbounded appreciation and gratitude to friends and neighbors who have been so kind and sympathetic in the sorrow that came to us at the death of our brother. Your goodness has lightened our load, and the beautiful flowers you so generously brought were as a bright light breaking through the surrounding darkness. We thank you more than words can tell.—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Day, Mrs. C. E. Hoskin.

BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts were on duty last week-end at the college in spite of the rain. It got rather moist between 8 and 8:30, but as part of duty we liked it "O. K."

As a whole, the drivers cooperated with us very nicely, and we appreciate it.

We were divided into two groups, one to patrol Friday and the other to patrol Saturday. But any of the others that could were to report for duty both days.

Camp

We are planning to camp at our cabin Friday night of this week and work Saturday morning on the yard. We have to grade it off and fix a ditch to carry the water from the back of the cabin. There is a tree stump to be dug up, also.

Each patrol is to design its own bench and build it.

The fireplace is not completely finished yet, but will be soon.

CLIFFORD FULFORD HONORED AT THE UNIVERSITY

Mr. Clifford Fulford has been signally honored at the University of Alabama by being chosen for membership in ODK, the highest honorary student fraternity. There were only fourteen students whose records could qualify them for this membership.

Clifford is a former Montevallo boy, a graduate of the Montevallo High School. His mother, Mrs. Zettie Fulford, now lives in Athens, where she went from Montevallo last year.

WORK OF LATIN STUDENTS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

The Latin students at the high school are learning to correlate the events of ancient times with modern ones. On Valentine Day the first year class made Valentines with Latin inscriptions on them. These were displayed on the bulletin board together with a large red heart lettered in white ink by Eleanor Reynolds, explaining the origin of the holiday. On Washington's birthday the class that is studying Caesar had a very interesting program concerning Caesar as the father of his country and showing how Mussolini is following in his footsteps, and comparing the ancient map of the Roman Empire. Il Duce is carving out for Italy today. No wthey are working on a Roman design for the new curtains for their room.

MRS. FROST HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Frank Frost and Mrs. J. C. Rogers were joint hostesses Tuesday, February 14, honoring Mrs. N. T. Frost who has recently moved into her lovely new home, with a miscellaneous shower. A profusion of spring flowers and other decorations carrying out the Valentine motif added to the attractiveness of this beautiful home.

There were 38 guests present and many games and contests were enjoyed under the capable supervision of Mrs. Frost, Mrs. Rena Phillips, and Mrs. Earl Campbell winning prizes.

The table in the dining room was covered with a lovely Italian lace cloth from which punch and cookies were served by Mrs. Frost and Miss Lucile Daviston. Many beautiful and useful gifts were presented the honoree.

Contract Awarded For New Buildings

Contracts for the new dormitory and classroom building at Alabama College have been awarded to the Upchurch Construction Company, Montgomery, subject to the approval of the Public Works Administration, announces President A. F. Harman.

The buildings will cost approximately $238,000 and will be completed by September 1. Work on the project will begin at once. The Perusini Construction Company has already started work on the library addition. The contract for the remodeling of Reynolds Hall has not yet been awarded.

Dempsey Construction Company is making good progress on the Elementary and High School buildings.

FOUR-MILE NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. George Ewing and Eddie of Wilton visited Mrs. Russell Potts Monday.

Mr. Raymond Freeman of Centerville and son, Raymond, Jr., spent a while with Mrs. Walter Owen and family Friday afternoon.

Messrs. Jim and Billy Potts and Miss Mary Dennis Potts of Birmingham spent Saturday evening and Sunday with relatives here.

Mrs. W. C. Potts and family had as guests Monday Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Eaves of Stanton, and Mrs. Merrett Walker and son, Merrett, Jr., and Mrs. Guin Eaves of Birmingham.

His many friends of Four Mile regret the passing away of Mr. Zeke Day Monday night. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family in their sorrow.

Mrs. J. S. S. Bell is ill again this week. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

MEETING IN BIRMINGHAM ATTENDED BY NAPIER

Dean T. H. Napier attended a reports committee meeting of the higher commission of the Southern Education Association in Birmingham February 24 and 25, to discuss entrance of several colleges to the association.

Representatives from other southern schools were President B. T. Hubbard, Texas State College for Women, and R. L. Watkins superintendent of schools, Laurel, Mississippi.

High School Seniors Receive Invitation To Enter Emory Contest

Invitation has been received by Montevallo High School to enter the sixth annual Alumni Scholarship Contest of Emory University, it was announced today.

The contest will bring $300 scholarships to 20 high school seniors in the Southeast, according to an announcement by Robert F. Whitacker, executive secretary of the Emory Alumni Association. Awards will be made on a geographical basis. If a winner does not accept the scholarship for his region, it will be offered to the alternate winner.

Last year more than 1,000 high school seniors in eight states took the examination. Participation is open to seniors in accredited high schools in Georgia, Alabama, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Virginia.

Awards will be made on a "basic preparation" test, including the various fields of high school work. Students with superior scores on the examination will be awarded "Certificates of Excellence" by President Harvey W. Cox of Emory.

Examinations will be held simultaneously in all participating schools and will be administered by a school official or an Emory Alumnus of the community. Students wishing to enter must notify their high school principals before March 10.

"This is not a college entrance examination," the Emory announcement emphasized. "It is designed to find the best rather than the average student. Success or failure on this test has nothing to do with entrance requirements."

Home Demonstration Club

Mrs. Herbie Ingram and Mrs. Jack Ingram entertained the Home Demonstration Club February 22, from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock. The dining room and living room were decorated with red, white and blue flowers. The dining table was centered with a cheery tree and red and white crepe paper.

The program, led by Mrs. Russell, was "George Washington."

The demonstration was coffee, tea, and hot chocolate making. As Miss Watson and the leaders carried on in the kitchen, the other members had a delightful half hour of songs, poems, and contests.

Mrs. Ingram used favors of red and blue hatchets. The contests were grouped according to color.

A very pretty plate of cake, cherry whip, and Russian tea was served to members as the George Washington meeting came to an end. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Russell on March 22.

Mrs. P. M. Russell will be hostess Friday afternoon from 7 until 9:30 o'clock to the club women and their husbands. The occasion is to become better acquainted with home grounds and landscaping. Miss Watson and Mr. Lauderdale of Columbiana are to be speakers. Anyone interested in home ground beautification is invited to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pate, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Vernon attended the funeral of Mr. Will Underwood Sunday.

Boys Demonstrate Timber Thinning

A timber thinning demonstration was recently held by seven columbiana 4-H Club boys on Mr. Whit Holcombe's farm. Mr. Rufus Page, Extension Forester from Auburn, was in charge of the demonstration.

The demonstration was set up to test the value of thinning and weeding out of undesirable trees. Harvey and Howard Holcombe are keeping a record of all trees cut and the rate of growth of the trees left on the plot. This will give us a comparison with the check plot that is being left. Mr. Page expressed the importance of controlling fire in forests.

Those attending the meeting were W. M. Clark, 4-H Club Agent; Harvey Holcombe, Howard Holcombe, John Curlee, W. E. Taff, Paul Taff, Tinsley Bradley, and J. A. Ingram.

We invite you to stop by the plot located 3½ miles west of Columbiana on the Calera highway.—J. A. Ingram, Reporter.

MARRIAGE LICENSES DECREASE IN STATE

Marriage licenses issued in Shelby County totaled 555 last year, as compared with 630 in 1937, according to the records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. These totals do not include licenses issued but not used.

These records show that marriage licenses were issued to and used by a total of 30,194 persons in the state last year, 1,778 fewer than the 1937 total of 31,972. At an estimated cost of two dollars each, last year's marriage licenses represented a total outlay of $60,388.

Tomorrow's best beauty shop customer will be the man. Just as the women grew tired of old-fashioned long tresses and took their place in the barber shop, the men are growing tired of straight, straggly hair and haphazard barber shop scalp treatments. The answer is the modern beauty shop. The women demanded something better than the barber shop had to offer—they got it. The men are sure to follow. Therefore, we have equipped our shop with special equipment for waving exceptionally short hair and we especially invite the men to try our scientific services.

Stock Clinics To Be Held In County

Work stock need conditioning, and we have again secured the help of Dr. C. I. Harkins, veterinarian of Sylacauga, for a series of work stock clinics to be held over the county according to the schedule below.

At these clinics special attention will be given to correcting teeth trouble, treatment for bots, castration of colts, with examination of animals for any trouble.

Bots is one of the worst, as well as the most common troubles of work stock. The animal shows such symptoms as impaired appetite, pale mucous membrane, sometimes intermittent attacks of colic, becoming thin and unthrifty.

The fees for these treatments are very reasonable, and I hope you will take advantage of the opportunity to have your horses and mules looked over and treated if necessary. Please tell your neighbor about these clinics, and don't forget the time and place in your community.

Horse and Mule Clinics

Thursday, March 2—Vincent, 9 to 12; Harpersville, 1 to 3; Wallis Store, 3 to 5.

Friday, March 3—Wilsonville, 9 to 12; Columbiana, 1 to 3; Four Mile School, 3:30 to 5.

Monday, March 6—Caldis, 9 to 10:30; Sterrett, 10:45 to 12; Vandiver, 1 to 2:45; Dunnivant, 3 to 5.

Tuesday, March 7—Calera, 9 to 12; Montevallo, 1 to 3; Maylene, 3:30 to 5.

Wednesday, March 8—Westover, 8:30 to 10; Chelsea, 10:30 to 12; Siluria School, 1 to 3; Saginaw, 3:15 to 5.—A. A. Lauderdale, County Agent.

he did in years of vaudeville, so "weep not for Caesar, etc."

Jack Haley's advice on becoming a radio comedian reads: "Study the screwy dialect of Arty Auerbach, take filling your mouth with marbles, and make believe you're addressing a six-months-old child." Sounds simple.

Lovely Joan Banks, featured in Her Honor, Nancy James, is only two years out of High School but she has already starred with top radio names like Walter O'Keefe and Stoop and Bud. She is a talented comedienne as well as dramatic actress.

It's Rancher McGee, he's known as in these days. Anyway, Fibber McGee is looking over ranch houses in California's San Fernando Valley. Wouldn't you love to listen in on his conversations with the real-estate agents?

We caught Eileen Palmer of Those Happy Gilmans the other day broadcasting in her stocking feet. Seems she turned up in a pair of those new wooden shoes and the director made her take them off because they made too much noise in the studio.
